

CV of Michel Héry

After decades (mostly for INRS) of assessing occupational exposure to many pollutants (asbestos, disinfecting agents, carcinogenic metals, etc.) in various situations of work and employment (employees and contractors, production and maintenance, long terms activities and fixed-term projects), Michel Héry is now working in the strategic foresight team of INRS (French national institute for occupational safety and health).